Please note – job posting numbers are based on snapshot data taken on the 3rd August, numbers are provisional and subject to change. Job postings are collected from online sources, it doesn't capture postings that are not advertised online, this might result in undercounting for some occupations. This data shows any active posting rather than newly listed postings. A posting is removed from the count after it has been online for 61 days. A job posting does not necessarily result in a job and some jobs will be created without a job posting.

Job posting numbers – district comparison

The below gives a district overview of total job postings for the month of July, comparing the same month in 2019, 2020, 2021 and 2022. Job posting numbers in July 2022 are higher than July in previous years, with the biggest increase seen in Gloucester.

Jobs by advertised salary

The below graph looks at job postings by advertised salary between January 2019 and July 2022. Please note that a significant proportion of postings don't show a salary, which are indicated by the grey line marked as 'unknown'.

The graph shows that all salary bands saw a dip in the number of advertised postings during the pandemic, with a notable dip between March 2020 before picking up again from August 2020 and dropping off again in November 2020. There has been a notable increase in the number of jobs posted in the £20-29k (orange line) salary range as well as those with salaries between £30-39k (red line), with other salaries seeing an increase but to a lesser extent.

The July update has seen a small increase across the £20-29k (orange line), £30-39k (red line) and £60-69k (green line) salary bands but a small decrease over the £10-19k (blue line), £40-49k (yellow line), £50-59k (light blue line) and £70k and over (dark blue line) salary bands. Those marked as 'unknown' (grey dashed line) that do not show a salary have seen a large increase in numbers in July, which reflects the overall increase in jobs posting numbers seen this month.
